GC ranger first in Panama

By Meg Tebo
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Special Forces Ranger Steve Kristoff of Granite City believes he was the first American to touch down in Panama during last month's invasion.

"We jumped in at 500 feet (above the ground) with no reserves (extra parachutes), and I think I was first down. It was dark. We saw the enemy right away."

"It was scary, but you've got a job to do, so you can't show your fear," said Kristoff, 21, a January 1988 graduate of Granite City High School.

Kristoff is a member of the 75th Airborne Rangers Special Forces Team based at Fort Lewis, Wash. Their mission, he said, was to capture Gen. Manuel Noriega.

"We took on the 67th Panamanian Battalion. It's supposed to be their best. We secured the area, and then the 82nd Airborne jumped in behind us, with the media right behind them."

"That's why they (the 82nd Airborne) got all the attention. We were first, though. Our motto is 'Rangers lead the way.'"

Two soldiers were killed among Kristoff's rangers, and 17 were injured, some of them during the pitch-dark jump from the low-flying planes.

The exercise the troops performed was one they had practiced repeatedly in the weeks prior to the invasion, but they didn't know until just hours before that they were being sent into combat.

Kristoff's group was given leave from its practice site in Florida on Dec. 18.

"Everybody just went out and drank. Then, we went on alert at 4:30 on the 19th and were told to board our aircraft at 8:30. We left for Panama and they told us in the air, as we were packing our 'chutes, that we were headed for Panama for combat. Everybody just about had a cow! We jumped at exactly 00:00 hours (midnight) on Dec. 20," he said.

The battalion missed Noriega by mere hours. Kristoff was told that Cuban authorities had detected the American aircraft and had warned the Panamanian dictator of the Americans' impending arrival.

The plane in which Kristoff was riding lost two engines to enemy gunfire.

One of the Noriega henchmen Kristoff's battalion captured was found to have a 38-caliber revolver under his bed and a signed photograph of Noriega on the wall.

"The civilian people were really glad to see us. They kept saying, 'Yeah, we know Rangers' and stuff like that. I don't even know how they knew us, but they were glad to see us," Kristoff said.

Kristoff's job during much of the first hours of fighting was to tend to the wounded because of his certification as an emergency medical technician.

"I had my gun slung over my shoulder — I wasn't even firing. I would crawl along the ground to try to reach somebody, patch him up, send him back to the rear and go for somebody else," he said.

Kristoff's group then took over the Presidential Palace, Noriega's home outside Panama City. They were allowed to keep "war souvenirs" of personal belongings of the occupants that were found in the palace.

Kristoff took a two-foot knife inscribed in Spanish with the words "Panamanian Defense Forces." He also found a stack of personal photographs showing Noriega reviewing his troops and speaking at a rally, as well as some pictures taken in a Panamanian officers' club showing Noriega with a bevy of smiling young girls.

"But now we've got him (Noriega). Now he knows about the Americans, doesn't he?" said Kristoff.

The Granite City, who was given a four-day pass to visit his family, left here Tuesday to rejoin his comrades for more training, this time in Texas.

Father waited seeking news

GRANITE CITY — Tony Kristoff didn't know for two weeks after last month's U.S. invasion of Panama whether his son was involved in the military action.

Kristoff's son, Steve, is a member of the 75th Airborne Rangers based in Washington state. According to his father, the younger Kristoff's unit was the very first special forces unit to land in Panama Dec. 20, followed closely by the 82nd Airborne.

Steve Kristoff's unit suffered two deaths and 17 wounded in the invasion, according to a letter he wrote to his father last week. Kristoff was not injured.

"For two weeks we wondered and I called the Pentagon, but all they would tell me is that they had no report of him being dead or injured. I still didn't know what was going on," said Tony Kristoff.

"Then, finally, I got a letter, but it had been opened and put in a different envelope. I didn't think that was necessary, because by then all the secrets were out. There should have been nothing he couldn't say," Kristoff said.

Husband will enter not guilty plea

By Andy Siering

THE BRONX, N.Y. — The husband of former Venice woman Catherine (Ponce) Claude has been charged with murder in her mutilation death.

The woman's headless, handless body was found on a burning fire in a run-down commercial section of the Bronx late Monday, Jan. 8, police said.

Her husband, John Claude, 32, surrendered at the 41st Police Precinct in the Bronx with his lawyer at 3 p.m. Saturday. He was charged with second-degree murder and was held without bond. He was arraigned late Monday night and was remanded without bail to the Department of Corrections pending grand jury proceedings on Jan. 19.

According to the Bronx District Attorney's Office additional charges may be filed.

His lawyer, Gary Villanueva, said his client would plead not guilty. He said it was "premature at this point to talk about his (John Claude's) version of the facts."

Claude had been sought for several days, police said, after her family and employer reported her missing and bloodstains were found in the family car.

The Claudes, who lived in the Bedford-Stuyvesant neighborhood of Brooklyn, were seen arguing Monday morning by their 9-year-old son, Jason.

In New York state, only those who kill policemen or corrections officers can be charged with first-degree murder, which can carry the death penalty. The maximum penalty for second-degree murder is 25 years-to-life imprisonment; the minimum penalty is 15 years-to-life.

Cathy Claude's body was not identified until Thursday because her head and hands have not been found. Lt. Raymond O'Donnell said the body was identified through comparing X-rays of one of her severed feet.

Cathy Claude, 30, graduated from Edwardsville High School. She grew up in Venice, where she graduated from St. Mary-St. Mark's grade school. She and John Claude had been married since 1981 and had three children, who are believed to be in the protective custody of the State of New York.

Her parents live in Edwardsville and her maternal grandparents in Granite City.

Claude recently lost his job as an underwriter and had sought treatment last summer for cocaine addiction, police said.

HONORING DR. KING: A large contingent of Venice and Madison residents headed south on Sunday afternoon in observance of the anniversary of the birthday of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. A program honoring the slain civil rights leader followed the march at the New Salem Baptist Church. The Rev. Leonard Wilson, who is also a Madison County sheriff's deputy, criticized the Madison County Board for not making Dr. Martin Luther King Day a county holiday, and the members of the board for not attending the annual Venice program, to which they are invited.

Reviews and previews

Restaurant going to Pontoon

Ralph and Charlie's Restaurant, destroyed by fire in Madison on June 7, will be rebuilt in the Oakmont Plaza Shopping Center in Pontoon Beach, owner David Thebeau said.

Thebeau expects to have the design plans ready by Feb. 1 and will immediately begin full-scale interior reconstruction of the property in the shopping center in the 4000 block of Pontoon Road.

"I hope to open in May or by early June at the latest," Thebeau said.

GC Hall of Fame gets money

The District 9 school board voted last week to spend $19,000 to help finish the building and grounds of the Granite City Sports Hall of Fame. Sports Hall of Fame Chairman Frank Kraus wrote to the district requesting the funds to finish restroom, ticket stand and concession facilities on the high school grounds.

Bad check felony charged

GRANITE CITY — A felony warrant alleging deceptive practice was issued Friday by the Madison County State's Attorney's Office, authorizing the arrest of Alice Jean Rogers, 35, of the 700-block of Ashland Avenue in Mitchell.

Rogers was initially arrested at 7:45 a.m. Friday at a residence in Granite City and was charged with unlawful possession of a hypodermic syringe. Police were investigating another case at that time.

She appeared in the Granite City court on the Class 4 felony warrant and possession charge at 4:10 p.m. Friday and the judge signed a document ordering her transfer to the Madison County Jail in Edwardsville.

Rogers was moved to the county facility at 11:22 p.m. the same date. Bond was set at $55,000.

The felony charge stemmed from Rogers having purchased a video cassette recorder from Dave's Movies and More at 3675 Nameoki Road on Jan. 20, 1989, and allegedly paying for the recorder with a check in the amount of $482.57, police said.

The check was returned to the store, marked account closed, Dave Wolf, store owner, said.

He then gave the check to his attorney for collection. The money could not be collected from the suspect, a police sergeant reported.

Tip Top Tavern entered, looted

Cash and an undetermined amount of cigarettes were taken in a burglary at the Tip Top Tavern, 1740 State St., it was reported at 6 a.m. Jan. 9.

A door on the south side of the building was found open; a back saw apparently had been used to cut the lower portion of bars securing a window on that side of the tavern.

A cash box containing $350, a cash drawer holding $80 and a bank bag with approximately $10 inside were stolen.

The intruders also stole cigarettes from a cabinet and pried open three video games, taking an undetermined amount of quarters.

Windows smashed

Six windows at Granite City High School were smashed by rock-throwing vandals, it was reported at 8:25 p.m. Jan. 8. Most of the damage was on the Grand Avenue side of the building.

Granite City

Forgery felony alleged

Sherrian J. Mathis, 48, of the 2500 block of Edwards Street was served a Macoupin County felony warrant alleging forgery when her vehicle was located at Edwards and Henry streets at 12:35 a.m. Jan. 4. She was released after posting $502 bail.

Burglar obtains rings

Four rings, including a ruby and diamond ring worth $300 and a 1970 class ring, were stolen from the residence of Dawn M. Finn, 21, of the 2400 block of State Street, she reported at 9:35 p.m. Jan. 3. Also missing was $20 cash.

Wallet and $200 stolen

Brian Lucas of Georgetown

Drive, Pontoon Beach, reported Jan. 8 that his black wallet was stolen from the locker room at the Heidman Steel plant, 10 Northgate Industrial Drive. In the wallet were five credit cards and $200.

Variety Club gives vans, cash

Records were broken Jan. 8 during the St. Louis Variety Club's 23rd Annual Awards Luncheon at the Adam's Mark Hotel.

More than $2.1 million of the record $2.6 million raised by the 1989 Sammy Davis Jr. Variety Club Telethon was distributed to 184 children's agencies, 17 more agencies than last year, said Variety Club President Clarence C. Barksdale.

The group also gave local agencies the keys to 21 Sunshine Coaches, a record number for the 12-passenger vans distributed by the club each year.

Included in the 1989 Variety Club allocations are several special projects:

•The Variety Club Disabled Sports Camp, staffed by the St. Louis Society for Crippled Children, received a $25,000 grant.

•Very Special Arts of Missouri, an arts program for handicapped, was given $10,000.

•St. Louis Children's Hospital was allocated $37,000 to purchase an Argon Laser for the liver transplant program; and •Cardinal Glennon Children's Hospital received a check for $100,000 for the Sammy Davis Jr. Variety Club Intensive Care Wing.

Keys and titles to the Sunshine Coaches went to:

Boys Hope, Boys Town of Missouri, Central Institute for the Deaf, Family Resource Center, Girls Club of St. Louis, Greeley Community Center, Illinois Center for Autism.

Learning Tree Day Nursery, Logos High School, Marian Hall Residential Center, Metro Employment & Rehabilitation, Missouri Girls Town Foundation, Nursery Foundation of St. Louis, Our Lady of the Angels School.

'89 banner year for lost animals

In 1989, the Madison County Humane Society found homes for 577 dogs and 309 cats, greatly surpassing the adoption statistics when the county was handling the program.

In 1986, the county's adoption program placed less than 100 dogs and cats.

The Humane Society of the United States estimates that pet owners who allow their animals to breed at whim are responsible for the births of more than 70,000 puppies and kittens each day in the United States.

For more information on the many homeless dogs and cats that are available for adoption, or to volunteer your time to help the animals, call the Madison County Humane Society at 656-4405.

New Illinois law spells out tire disposal specifics

By Steve Horrell
Staff writer

SPRINGFIELD — Buried amid a myriad of new state laws that took effect this month is a regulation that state officials hope will be the first step toward controlling a glut of junk tires that plagues the Metro East area.

The new law is designed to help officials keep track of an estimated 100,000 scrap tires in the area. That represents half of the scrap tires in Illinois.

Midwest Rubber Reclaiming Co. in Sauget and A. Schulman, Inc. of East St. Louis, which each dispose of 50,000 tires a year, are two of the biggest tire dumps in the state.

According to Steve Noblitt, an environmental protection specialist for the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency in Collinsville, "We're generating these tires at a fast rate and there's no easy way to get rid of them."

With the new law, the IEPA can now regulate any dump operator who owns 50 or more scrap tires. In addition, it can order a cleanup of a site if the owner refuses to do so or if the state does not know who dumped the tires. The state can also sue for the cost of the cleanup who ever is responsible for dumping the tires.

The IEPA is working with tire owners and the Illinois attorney general's office on a disposal plan. The office has declined to identify the owners while discussions continue.

The tire-disposal problem is high on the IEPA list of environmental concerns. The agency says 10 million tires are thrown out each year in Illinois.

Horace Drake, plant manager for Midwest Rubber, said the company takes old tires, salvages rubber, devulcanizes it and then processes it for re-use as tires. In addition, inner tubes are processed and used as adhesive in duct tape.

Two factors affect the problem of discarded tires. The market for reclaimed rubber in this country has dwindled and few, if any, landfill operators are willing to accept old tires.

Despite state law prohibiting the practice, many used tires are burned, adding to the pollution of air, water and land, EPA officials said.

The new law not only will help state officials keep track of who owns the tires but also the manner in which they are discarded. Tires not salvaged can serve as a breeding ground for the Asian tiger mosquito, which can cause encephalitis, an infection of the brain.

The mosquito came from Asia in tire shipments, Noblitt said. "They've got to somehow keep the tires in such a way as to not become a breeding ground for the tiger mosquito," Noblitt said. "That means keeping them covered and dumping the water out of them."

Part of the proceeds from an increase in the state's vehicle title fee from $2 to $5 will be used to establish a cleanup fund. Recycling has been offered as a solution by some state and local officials. Archer-Daniels-Midland, a grain processing company in Decatur, was recently given a permit to burn shredded tires mixed with coal to create electricity.

If the six-month experimental program works, Noblitt said, the company could burn up to 10 million scrap tires a year.

"The plant is going to require a steady influx of tires and we're going to need a way of disposing of them," Noblitt said.

St. Clair County Board member Frank Boyne has a similar proposal, calling for two or three tire recovery plants to be built throughout the state. They would boil down tires by using a heating process.

A 20-pound tire, he said, can yield: one gallon of No. 6 oil, used to make asphalt; 350 feet of butane, propane and natural gas; and three-fourths pound of steel.

Boyne, a member of the St. Clair County Environmental Committee, said his plan would add a $3 fee to the price of a new tire. That money would go into a tire recovery fund to build a recovery plant.

"The problem is getting worse every day," Boyne said. "The hardest thing is to get started."

Governor shuffles cabinet-level staff

SPRINGFIELD — Gov. James R. Thompson has appointed Steven D. McClure as director of the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA).

The governor also accepted the resignation of Ann Kiley as director of the Department of Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities (DMHDD), effective immediately, and named William Murphy as acting director. Murphy is associate director of the Division of Developmental Disabilities.

McClure replaces Jay Hedges, who resigned recently to take a position in private business. McClure had served as acting director since Nov. 16 and as assistant director of DCCA since Dec. 1, 1987. From June 1987 to December 1987, he was the DCCA's assistant to the director for policy development.

Kiley, 42, was appointed director of DMHDD in February 1986. She also served as an assistant to the director and as associate director at the Department of Public Aid from April 1984 to January 1986.

Murphy, 54, has held a variety of positions with DMHDD since 1963. He has been associate director of the Division of Developmental Disabilities since 1983. Thompson also announced that Eric Watson, the governor's director of scheduling, is moving to DCCA to become executive assistant to the director, effective Jan. 16.

Rhonda Miner, 37, currently assistant director of scheduling, will succeed Watson as director.

Miner resides in Waverly and has been an assistant in scheduling since 1986. She will be paid $40,000 annually.

Driving in fog presents hazards

Rapidly changing temperatures in Illinois this time of year can result in fog. Be prepared to alter your driving habits, the Illinois Secretary of State Office advises motorists.

The best safety rule is to avoid driving in fog whenever possible, a spokesman said.

However, for those who must drive, the following safety precautions are recommended:
• Dim your headlights. Low beams direct light onto the road ahead, help you see more clearly and help others to see you.

• Slow down. Reduce your speed even more if you see headlights or taillights in front of you.
• Do not overdrive your headlights. Stay within the limits of your vision and be prepared to stop in an emergency.

Romance, traditions sweep bridal fashion

By Lucyann Boston
Staff affiliate

Think spring, think romance, think weddings.

And mark 1989 as a year when brides, bridesmaids and the men in their lives are destined to look as if they had stepped out of a picture book.

"Basically, the bride sees this as her one day to be her most romantic," says Patty Dean, fashion director of Neiman-Marcus in Plaza Frontenac.

This is reflected in a return to traditional silhouettes including romantic, full-skirted gowns, trimmed with laces, pearls and iridescence, she says.

Traditional looks are showing up in a variety of gowns, says Betty Deall, director of design for Bridal Originals, a wholesale manufacturing firm in Collinsville, Ill. that ships gowns throughout the country.

"We're going back to very elegant laces and lots of traditional looks in very simple gowns, as well as very elaborate gowns," Deall says.

"The average age of a bride today is 23 and the groom is 25. In the not-too-distant past, the average bride was 18 or 19," Deall adds.

"The fact that they are older means they have their own, very definite ideas of what they want. Very often they pay for the gowns themselves (gown prices average between $600 and $700, according to St. Louis area retailers) and they don't want to be dictated to."

Because brides are older, Deall says, bridal manufacturers and retailers need to offer a wide variety of silhouettes so that the bride who wants a sophisticated look will have the choice of a sheath as well as a full-skirted dress.

The trend toward traditional looks and sophistication means there will be an emphasis on beading, Deall says, "especially dangling crystals and fringe beading. There also will be lots of back detail. It's very important the gown presents a beautiful view from the back because that's what you see down the long church aisle."

Off-the-shoulder treatments continue to be important, Deall says, adding that open necklines often are filled in with a sheer fabric that gives the skin a delicate glow.

More sophistication in wedding dresses also means fewer ruffles on dresses, sleeves that are not quite as puffed and unusual neckline treatments, such as sleeveless dresses with high necks and high-cut armholes, says Joan Blase, who owns Donjon Bridal Ltd. in Brentwood.

Simplicity is the keynote, says Phyllis Bianchi, who heads the House of Bianchi and was in St. Louis at Montaldo's in Plaza Frontenac for a personal appearance recently.

"A girl walking down the aisle just wants to be pretty," Bianchi says. "She doesn't want to look all decked out like a Christmas tree."

In fabrics, taffeta is becoming more popular than satins for wedding dresses, according to Vicki Hager, senior merchandise manager for JC Penney, which has a bridal salon at its Northwest Plaza store.

"We're also seeing a decline in lace, and an increase in the use of chiffon and organza," she says.

Tulle is another fabric that is important in the wedding picture for spring, says B.J. Fischer, bridal consultant for the House of Sharon in Fairview Heights. "It gives a soft, airy, feminine, almost Cinderella look."

Fischer also is seeing greater interest among brides-to-be in pale pastel wedding gowns.

"Each year there is more interest," she says. "Last year we were seeing sheer white fabric layered over pink. This year the manufacturers are beginning to show all pink and the girls are not shy about coming in and asking for a pink wedding dress."

Headpieces also reflect the more romantic look brides-to-be are requesting.

"They tend to be quite bouffant and have a lot of beading," says Alice Mertz, assistant manager of the Maiden Voyage store in Chesterfield.

Modern-Day remarriage: a whole new proposal

The spirit of celebration is as important for brides and grooms who have been married before as it is for others.

Bride's magazine offers remarrying couples the following wedding planning suggestions:

•The bride should feel free to marry in the outfit of her choice. The traditionally simple, cream-colored suit is still lovely—but so is a romantically long and lacy gown, in white or your favorite color. The only accessory best omitted is the veil, long a symbol of youth.

Indulge yourself at this special time. Wear an engagement ring. Plan a beauty day at the salon—complete with lavish hair care, facial and manicure.

•If either of you has children, make them as much a part of the celebration as possible.

•Make your reception as extravagant a party as you wish, complete with all the wedding traditions—a receiving line, the "first dance," the ceremonial cutting of the cake, and a champagne toast. A warm way to welcome guests is to head up the receiving line yourselves, rather than leaving it up to your parents.

•Don't feel a honeymoon is not necessary "this time around." Getting married is tiring, even if you have been through it before.

How do you fit in some rest and relaxation when you have children? If possible, plan a trip just for the two of you first, then a "group honeymoon" so you'll all feel like a family.

Couples: budget time for financial planning

Financial woes are the leading cause of marital problems, studies show. Thus, it makes sense for couples about to wed to discuss financial matters, attitudes included, openly and honestly.

In the rush and excitement of planning a wedding, it's easy to put a talk about money on the very bottom of your priority list. But remember that the happiness and security of your union may be at stake. Many of the pitfalls can be avoided if you are aware of the paths that lead to them.

When you marry, each of you brings certain assets to the partnership. These can be tangible (income, savings) or intangible (good spending and saving habits, financial goals that are well thought out, a willingness and ability to keep track of money). You also may bring liabilities, in the form of debts or unwillingness to budget and save.

Newly married couples want to live in the lifestyle that they have dreamed about, so it is tempting to overspend. For example, furnishing a home is costly but doing it quickly is much more exciting than postponing purchases until you can establish a financial base. It also can be hazardous, both to your credit standing and to your relationship.

Because of these temptations, it's wise to confer with a reputable financial planner and make worldly arrangements just as you may want to meet with your spiritual leader to prepare for your wedding day. A savings and investment plan that is already in place will be much easier to follow than one you make up as you go along, when the temptation to spend beyond your means is great.

Sit down together and have a heart-to-heart talk about spending and savings philosophies. If one of you is of the "eat, drink, and be merry" school, while the other wants to sock away every possible penny to guard against all imaginable contingencies, seek a compromise in these mutually exclusive attitudes now.

Be wary of making or accepting commitments that seem unbelievable. A lifetime's habits cannot be ended through starry-eyed declarations. Changing them requires real work. Financial irresponsibility is an especially difficult habit to break.

Begin preparing a household budget. There will be blank spaces, and it will have to be modified as you go along, but it is as necessary to financial planning as a road map is to a traveler traversing the continent.

Plan for two categories of savings: long-term investments, which you should not touch except in true emergencies when all other options have run out, and savings for specific goals, such as furniture and vacations.

Don't forget to budget money for leisure and entertainment.

When planning your financial future, think of your household as a business. Pick one of you to be, in essence, the family comptroller — the person who keeps track of and pays the bills. This person also might be responsible for keeping records necessary for taxes and for determining if your plans are being followed.

Schedule regular meetings to discuss the state of family finances. Many couples discuss money only in times of crisis, when emotions are high and fixing blame frequently takes the place of solving problems. When couples are accustomed to discussing their financial situation, crises are much less likely because they will have been foreseen and averted. If a crisis does occur, it will be dealt with by partners rather than by opponents.

Plan to meet regularly with your financial consultant. As income grows, your strategies probably will change. If you intend to have children or purchase a home, your entire financial picture probably will alter.

If you already are married and don't have a good financial plan, don't despair. Today is the day to start putting your household in fiscal order. Even if you have done well handling family finances yourself, plan and hold family business meetings. An outside planner can be a source of new perspectives. And almost everyone could stand some improvement in the bookkeeping department. (Maybe it's time to consider the services of an accountant.)

Your wedding day should be among the happiest days of your life. With a little careful planning, it can take place without financial fears — and the days that follow can be happy days, too.

Bridal gown selection precedes maids' dresses

From the time a woman becomes engaged until she weds, she embarks on a whirlwind journey of exciting experiences, elaborate plans and lots of important decisions.

One of the bride's most important concerns is selecting her bridesmaids and their fashions. To ensure that her bridal party looks perfect, a bride should pay as much attention to selecting her maids' dresses as she does her own.

The following tips are from a nationwide retailer of women's fashions:

•The bride needs to select her own gown before choosing her bridesmaids' attire. The maids' gowns should reflect the bride's, not the other way around.

•The maids' gowns should be somewhat similar to the bridal gown with regard to neckline and waist.

•Fabrics of the bridesmaids' gowns should be compatible with the bride's. Some bridal gowns feature a combination of fabrics, such as a tulle bodice with a floor-length tulle gown. To best complement this type of gown, the maids' dresses can be made of one of the fabrics, such as the tulle.

•Style features in the bride's gown should be complemented, not copied, in the maids' gowns. For example, a bride may select her gown with a puffed "Renaissance" sleeve. Thus, the maids' dresses should also have puffed sleeves, but less full and dramatic than the bride's.

Missouri wants to export 250 Illinois prisoners

SPRINGFIELD — The Missouri corrections department has hung out a "no vacancy" sign.

According to Illinois Department of Corrections Director Michael P. Lane, Missouri has asked the IDOC to remove 250 Illinois inmates housed at the Western Missouri Correctional Center in Cameron.

"Apparently, Missouri is experiencing a crowding problem similar to Illinois: An unanticipated increase in the prison population caused by a crackdown on drug users and dealers," said Lane.

Lane noted that the IDOC transferred 100 inmates from Missouri to Illinois in early January and will remove the remaining inmates at the Cameron facility within the next few weeks.

He said the agency will request that remaining funds earmarked for boarding the inmates in Missouri be transferred to existing prison budgets to pay for unanticipated medical and food costs created by the unexpected increase in the inmate population.

In July 1989, Illinois entered into a contract with Missouri to place 250 male inmates at the new Cameron prison. Missouri offered the space for a full fiscal year — until June 30, 1990.

"With 24,821 adults jammed into a system designed for 18,702, the Illinois prison crowding problem is growing out of control. In 1989 alone, the net increase of 3,631 is almost double the space that will be created by building new prisons at Taylorville, Robinson and Rend Lake," Lane said.

The Taylorville and Robinson prisons will house 600 minimum security inmates each, with an expected opening this fall. The Rend Lake facility is being designed for 728 medium security inmates, with a planned opening in the fall of 1991.

Madison County reports drop in divorces

EDWARDSVILLE — Fewer Madison County residents are seeking divorces than 10 years ago, despite an increase in the county's population.

A significant change in Illinois divorce laws in 1978 may have discouraged some divorces since then, Edwardsville attorney J. William Lucco said.

Before the change, the "guilty" party in a divorce usually came out second-best in the distribution of marital property, he said.

Since the change, however, the issue of fault cannot be taken into account in the distribution of property.

"I still have people coming into my office who are shocked to learn that," Lucco said. "That may discourage some people who are thinking about divorce."

In Madison County, the number of divorce cases filed peaked in the late 1970s and early 1980s.

In 1989, 1,646 divorce actions were filed in the county, about 16 percent fewer than the 1,962 filed in 1979. The figures have remained about the same over the last five years.

Madison County's population increased 1.9 percent between the 1980 census and July 1988, according to government estimates. There are about a quarter-million county residents.

Alton attorney John Delaney said he was unaware of the decrease over the last decade. It has had little apparent effect on the number of attorneys who handle divorce cases, he said.

Another Alton attorney, Gerald McGivern, said he believes the decrease is due primarily to economic factors.

McGivern said lower- and lower-middle-income couples who divorce face bleak financial futures. There is seldom enough income to support two households in a style that either ex-spouse finds appealing, he said.

"People are putting up with a lot more (in their marriages)," Edwardsville attorney Joe Hill said he has noticed that fewer young people are seeking divorces, probably because people are marrying later.

"Most people are marrying in their 20s now, rather than when they are just out of high school," he said. Also, Hill said, more unmarried couples are living together.

However, there are far more divorces among older couples — some in their 60s and 70s — than there were a decade or two ago, he said.

Warriors rally to beat Francis Howell, 29-28

GRANITE CITY — Larry Hahne's 20th win of the season was the clincher as the Warrior wrestling team came from behind for a 29-28 home win over Francis Howell in a dual meet Saturday.

Hahne, a senior, took control early against junior Jason Firecoat in the 189-pound match. He led 5-0 after one period, then pinned Firecoat 43 seconds into the second period to give the Warriors (8-6 in dual meets) a 29-24 lead. It was Hahne's 16 pin of the season. He leads the team in pins and is second in wins.

Willaredt lost 6-1 to junior Eric Litteken in the final bout, but that was worth only four points to Francis Howell and the Warriors hung on.

Saturday's win came on the heels of Granite City's second-place finish in the Hazelwood Central quad meet Friday. The Warriors took two of three dual meets in that one. They lost 38-21 to Hazelwood Central — which won the meet with 237 team points — then beat Wentzville (Mo.) 47-19 and topped Roxana 30-21.

The Warriors got early pins from sophomore 103-pounder

Ryan King (21-7) and senior 125-pounder Todd Hutchison (17-11) and led Francis Howell 15-8 on Saturday. But Francis Howell won the next four matches to take a 24-15.

Sophomore 160-pounder Russ Buchek (6-9) got the Warriors buck on track with a 16-6 decision over junior Gary Newtown before senior 171-pounder Brad Massey put Granite City within a point with an 11-1 decision over senior Jim Burgstead.

Hahne had an impressive tournament at Hazelwood as well, picking up two pins, including one in 31 seconds over Roxana junior Bryan Lawson. He was the only Warrior to go unbeaten on Friday. Freshman Pat Schefter made his varsity debut at 103 pounds and won one of three matches, a 14-7 decision over Wentzville freshman Chad Matlack.

King, who leads the team in wins, moved up to 112 and won two of three, including a pin of Roxana sophomore Jason Johnson. Chris Hoffstot (130), Jerry Heuschman (135), Scott Simon (145) and Massey (171) also won two of three matches Friday, with Simon (9-14-1) getting two pins.

Heuschman joined Hahne in taking first place in his weight class. Seconds went to King. (See WRESTLING, Page 2B)

Greene, Rams prove no match for Super 49ers

There will not be a Granite City High School graduate playing in this year's Super Bowl.

Not even close. Kevin Greene, a 1980 graduate of Granite City South, continues to be a rising star in the National Football League. He's one of the league's impact players as a pass-rushing outside linebacker for the Los Angeles Rams.

The Rams are one of the better teams in the league, but Sunday it was proved that they are merely in the best-of-the-rest class along with many others. As Bum Phillips once said of Earl Campbell, "He may not be in a class by himself, but it sure doesn't take long to call the roll." The only ones in a class with the San Francisco 49ers are three Super Bowl trophies — and soon a fourth.

The 49ers have been installed as 11½-point favorites over the Denver Broncos in Super Bowl XXIV to be played Jan. 28 in the New Orleans Superdome. Pete Rose would be wise to bet the Niners. If they win this one by (See WHALEY, Page 4B)

Accurate Redbirds outshoot Red Devils

By Greg Shashack
Staff writer

ALTON — Just 24 hours after bringing new meaning to the term "playing ugly," the Alton Redbirds came alive Saturday. And the Red Devils were in the wrong place when the resurrection took place.

Alton, which lost 31-59 to Belleville East in a less-than-dazzling display of basketball Friday, made 11 of 12 free throws in the final two minutes to knock off Venice 80-67. The Redbirds, who will play at Granite City on Friday, improved to 5-8 (they are 0-4 in the Southwestern Conference). Venice, 13th in the Illinois Class A poll and tops in the St. Louis area small school polls, fell to 12-3.

"I don't think we played exceptionally well tonight, but we were consistent," said Alton coach Stan McAfee. "Our transition was spotty, but the defense was consistent. There was no rhyme or reason for what happened (Friday) night. I don't understand it, but we just have to make sure it doesn't happen again."

While the Redbirds couldn't hit the red side of a red barn against the Lancers, they shot 50 percent from the floor and nailed 20 of 23 free throws against the Devils. Kevin Caldwell, who returned sooner than expected from an ankle injury Friday, led Alton with 27 points and made all 12 of his free throws. Twan Perry made nine of 10 shots and had 21 points. Eddie Rounds added 16.

"Perry, Caldwell and Rounds all played a fine game," said Venice coach Clinton Harris. "Alton was up for us, but our free throw shooting killed us." (See ALTON, Page 4B)

Aid packets ready

Applications for financial assistance for the 1990-91 academic year at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville are available as of Jan. 2. John Jemmett, director of the Office for Student Work and Financial Assistance, has announced.

To apply for financial aid at the university, students must complete the 1990-91 American College Testing-Family Financial Statement (ACT-FPS).

The form is also used to apply for Illinois Student Assistance Commission monetary awards, Pell Grants, campus-based financial aid and Stafford Loan Programs.

Students may pick up ACT-FPS forms and obtain information regarding all types of financial aid at the SIUE Office of Student Work and Financial Assistance, located in Room 2308 of the Rendleman Building, by telephoning (618) 692-3800 or by checking with their area high school counselors.

Jemmett said students planning to attend SIUE next year should apply for financial aid as soon as possible.

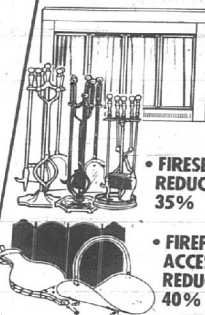

To receive priority consideration for campus-based financial aid, results of the ACT-FPS must be received at the university by April 1, 1990. To meet the priority date, completed forms must be mailed by March 1.

Chinese New Year Reigned In

By Lynn Vonhaus
Journal Staff Writer

A noble steed is galloping in to reign throughout Chinese year 4688, the Year of the Horse.

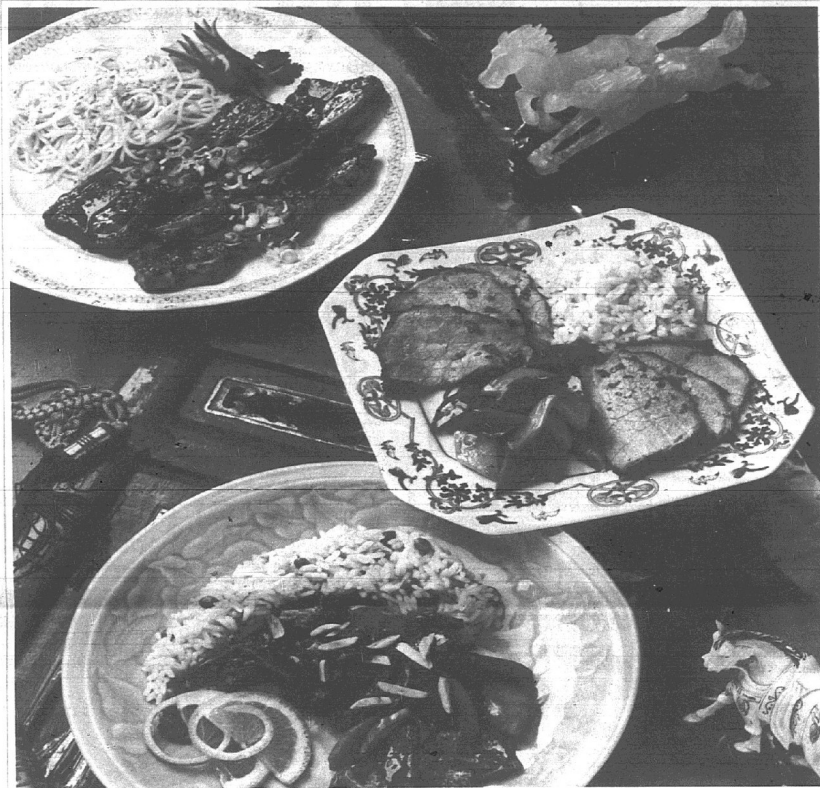

The Chinese celebrate holidays according to an ancient calendar based on the second new moon after the winter solstice, sometime between Jan. 21 and Feb. 19 on our modern calendar. Jan. 27 marks the beginning of the Year of the Horse, one of 12 animals that has given its name to a lunar calendar year.

For the energetic, it is said horse years are filled with great activity and excitement. For everyone, it is a time to build and rebuild, make new friends and put new direction into your life.

If you were born under this sign (1906, 1918, 1930, 1942, 1954, 1966 or 1978) you are fun-loving, talkative, talented, hard-working and smart with money. Children born during the Year of the Horse will be popular for their cheerfulness, talkativeness and great frankness. According to Chinese lore experts at La Choy, horses are the most hospitality-conscious people in the entire Chinese zodiac. They thrive on crowds, social events and group functions of all types.

Famous people born during horse years include Rembrandt, Frederic Chopin, Davy Crockett, Pearl Bailey, Paul McCartney, Leonard Bernstein, Chris Evert, Neil Armstrong, singer Paul Simon, Jimmy Breslin and Teddy Roosevelt.

The Chinese New Year is a time for festive celebration. It's a time for giving and receiving gifts, parades and fireworks in the bright hues of the rainbow. Firecrackers, gongs and drums scare away evil spirits for the coming year. It is also a celebration of the finest food of the year.

The basic philosophy of classic Chinese cooking is to use the finest available ingredients with seasonings and cooking methods that accentuate and complement the ingredients' inherent flavors. Each menu should reflect the harmony and balance in flavor, color and texture that is the very essence of Chinese cuisine.

Every Chinese holiday meal opens with appetizers. While formal banquets follow an established formula of 10 to 24 courses, all dishes in a home-style meal are served simultaneously. These meals generally include four or five simple entrees prepared with meat, chicken or eggs coupled with a seasonal vegetable and rice or noodles.

Traditionally, after the last mouthful of food has been eaten, diners enjoy hot soup. The delicate broth of Lemon Egg Drop Chicken Soup and other savory soups are believed to soothe the stomach and aid digestion. Fresh, cut-up fruit generally is served at the end of the meal, often followed by tea and hot towels to help revitalize sagging stamina. A dessert suggestion: fresh pineapple slices and coconut ice cream.

As the horse breathes new life into the coming year, we wish you happiness and prosperity. Whether you say "Gung Hoy Fet Toy!" or "Gung Hay Fat Choy!" have a happy new year.

Pork Fried Rice

- 1/2 lb. boneless pork, cut in 1/2-inch cubes
- 2 tbsp. soy sauce
- 1 tsp. minced garlic
- 1 tsp. minced ginger root
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 1/4 tsp. Oriental sesame oil
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 2 tbsp. vegetable oil
- 1/2 cup each julienne-cut carrots and sliced celery
- 4 cups unsalted, cooked long-grain rice
- 1 can (8 oz.) chop suey vegetables, drained
- 1 pkg. (6 oz.) frozen snow peas, thawed and cut in half
- 1/2 cup chopped green onions

In small bowl, combine pork, 1 tablespoon soy sauce, garlic, ginger, pepper and Oriental sesame oil; let stand 15 minutes. In non-stick Dutch oven, scramble eggs in hot oil; push to one side. Add pork, carrots and celery to pot and saute until pork is cooked through. Add remaining soy sauce and remaining ingredients to pot and toss until ingredients are well mixed and heated through. Makes 8 cups fried rice.

Orange Flavored Beef Stir-Fry

- 1 lb. well-trimmed boneless beef top sirloin or top round steak, cut 1/4-inch thick
- 2 tsp. minced garlic
- 1/4 tsp. grated orange peel
- 5 tbsp. stir-fry sauce, divided
- 1 tsp. fresh orange juice
- 1/2 tsp. cornstarch
- 1 lb. fresh broccoli
- 3 tbsp. vegetable oil, divided
- 1 medium carrot, cut diagonally into thin slices
- 1/4 cup slivered almonds, toasted

Cut beef into 1/2- to 3/4-inch thick strips. Combine garlic, orange peel and 2 tablespoons stir-fry sauce; stir in beef to coat. Cover and refrigerate 20 minutes. Meanwhile, combine remaining 3 tablespoons stir-fry sauce, orange juice and cornstarch; set aside.

Remove flowerets from broccoli; cut into bite-size pieces. Peel stalks; cut diagonally into thin slices. Heat 1 tablespoon oil in hot wok or large skillet over high heat. Stir-fry half of beef strips 1 minute; remove. Repeat with 1 tablespoon oil and remaining beef strips. Heat remaining 1 tablespoon oil in same wok or skillet over medium-high heat. Add broccoli and carrot; stir-fry 3 to 4 minutes, or until crisp-tender. Sprinkle with water, if needed. Stir in stir-fry sauce mixture. Cook and stir until mixture boils and thickens. Return beef to skillet and heat through. Sprinkle with almonds and serve immediately. Makes 4 servings.

Ginger Beef Roast

- 2 lb. beef eye round roast
- 1/4 cup naturally brewed soy sauce
- 1 tbsp. sesame seed, toasted and crushed
- 2 tbsp. dry sherry
- 2 tbsp. vegetable oil
- 1 tbsp. grated fresh ginger root
- 1 clove garlic, pressed
- 1/2 tsp. sugar
- 2 tsp. minced cilantro

Combine soy sauce, sesame seed, sherry, oil, ginger, garlic, sugar and 2 tablespoons water; set aside. Butterfly beef eye round roast by cutting horizontally through center (parallel to surface of meat) the length and width of roast; do not cut through opposite side. Meat should lay flat. Place roast and soy sauce mixture in large plastic bag. Press air out of bag; close securely. Turn bag over several times to coat both sides of roast. Refrigerate 1 hour, turning over occasionally. Reserving marinade, remove roast and place on broiler pan so surface of meat is about 5 inches from heat source. Broil 10 minutes; turn roast over and brush with reserved marinade. Broil 10 to 15 minutes longer. Cut roast lengthwise through center to separate into 2 pieces. Carve each piece into thin slices. Arrange on serving platter and sprinkle with cilantro. Makes 8 servings.

Peanut Blossom Sesame Toss

- Sauce:
- 1/4 cup creamy peanut butter
- 2 tbsp. soy sauce
- 2 tbsp. rice vinegar
- 1 1/2 tsp. packed light brown sugar
- 1 tsp. coriander
- 1/4 tsp. cayenne pepper

- 1/4 lb. linguini, cooked according to package directions, drained and rinsed
- 1 can (14 oz.) chop suey vegetables, drained
- 1/4 cup chopped green onions
- 2 tsp. toasted sesame seeds

In small bowl, whisk together sauce ingredients until smooth; set aside. In separate bowl, combine chicken, soy sauce and cornstarch. In large nonstick skillet, saute chicken and garlic in hot oil until chicken is no longer pink. Add sauce and remaining ingredients to skillet. Toss until all ingredients are well coated and mixture is heated through. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 1 tsp. vegetable oil
- 4 cans (14 1/2 oz. each) chicken broth
- 2 eggs, well-beaten
- 1 can (8 oz.) sliced water chestnuts, drained
- 1 pkg. (6 oz.) frozen snow peas, thawed
- 1/4 cup chopped green onions

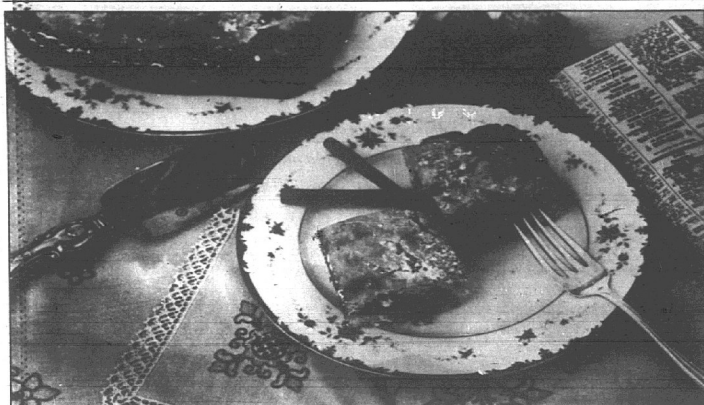

In small bowl, combine chicken, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, 1 tablespoon soy sauce, garlic and ginger. In separate bowl, combine remaining cornstarch, soy sauce, lemon juice, lemon peel, sugar and pepper. In Dutch oven, saute chicken in hot oil until no longer pink. Add chicken broth and heat through. Stir lemon mixture and add to broth. Stir until simmering and slightly thickened. Stir eggs into soup with fork to separate into strands. Add remaining ingredients and heat through. Makes 8 1/2 cups.

Chinese-Style Glazed Ribs

- 2 lb. beef rib short ribs, trimmed of excess fat and cut crosswise no more than 3/4- to 1/2-inch thick
- 1/4 cup distilled white vinegar
- 4 tbsp. chunky peanut butter, divided
- 2 tsp. minced fresh ginger root
- 1 tsp. crushed red pepper, divided
- 1/2 cup teriyaki sauce and glaze
- 1/4 to 1/2 tsp. hot pepper sauce
- 2 tbsp. chopped green onion

Combine vinegar, 2 tablespoons peanut butter, ginger and 1/2 teaspoon crushed red pepper; place with beef rib short ribs in large plastic bag. Press air out of bag; close securely. Turn bag over several times to coat both sides of ribs. Refrigerate 6 to 8 hours or overnight, turning over occasionally. Reserving marinade, remove ribs and place on rack in broiler pan. Blend remaining 2 tablespoons peanut butter and 2 tablespoons reserved marinade; combine with teriyaki sauce and glaze, remaining 1/2 teaspoon crushed red pepper and desired amount of hot pepper sauce. Brush ribs with sauce. Broil 5 minutes; turn ribs over and brush with remaining sauce. Broil 4 minutes longer. Just before serving, sprinkle with green onion. Makes 6 servings.

Notes: Beef rib short ribs, cut 3/4- to 1/2-inch thick, may be special ordered from your meat retailer. Each rib piece should contain 3 crosscut rib bones.

EVEN A SWEET breakfast can start the morning with positive energy if it is put together with a healthy outlook.

Start the day energized for action

No item on a list of good resolutions will be more important than to begin each day right — with a meal that is low in fat and high in nutrients that provide steady energy throughout the morning. Yet old ideas of a hearty breakfast, complete with eggs and bacon, are just what is wrong with many American diets — too much fat and too little fiber.

The best bet is a breakfast that includes some protein for energy, some fiber to fill the body and some fruit to provide vitamin C, fiber and other important nutrients. One of the most important dietary guidelines from the American Institute for Cancer Research to remember in breakfast planning is to limit high-fat foods, such as bacon, sausage, butter and whole milk.

The foundation of a good breakfast is complex carbohydrates. These foods, once known as starches, include grains such as wheat, oats and corn that contain very little fat and lots of fiber. When eaten with a small amount of animal protein — low-fat milk, yogurt or cheese, for example — complex carbohydrates also become an excellent source of the protein needed to get the body and brain started and keep them going.

By choosing whole grain cereal, whole wheat bread or buckwheat pancakes, there will be additional fiber and nutrient benefits not found in most refined grain products. Remember to watch toppings, too. Unsweetened applesauce or fruit jams are delicious alternatives to butter and syrup.

Cinnamon coffeecake

- 1 cup whole wheat flour
- 1/2 cup all-purpose flour
- 1/2 tsp. baking soda
- 1/2 tsp. baking powder
- 3 tbsp. brown sugar
- 3 tbsp. chopped walnuts or pecans
- 1 tsp. cinnamon
- 6 tbsp. margarine
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1/2 cup plain low-fat or nonfat yogurt
- 1 tsp. vanilla

Combine flour, baking soda and baking powder in medium bowl.

In small bowl, mix together brown sugar, chopped nuts and cinnamon.

In large bowl, beat margarine and sugar together thoroughly. Add eggs. Beat well. Blend in yogurt and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Gradually mix in flour mixture. Beat well.

Four half the batter in greased

9-inch square pan. Sprinkle with cinnamon-nut mixture, then pour in second half of batter.

Stir together remaining 4 teaspoons vanilla with 4 teaspoons water. Spoon mixture on top of batter in pan.

Bake in 350° oven 45 minutes or until done. Allow to cool. Sprinkle with confectioner's sugar before serving, if desired.

Makes 16 servings, 6 gm. fat and 146 calories each.

Registered dietitian Karen Collins reviews this material for the American Institute for Cancer Research in Washington.

Authentic Italian Heritage.

Navel orange yields all day's vitamin C

Each delicious navel orange is a storehouse of nutrients the body needs. A medium orange has less than 100 calories, yet supplies more than the recommended amount of vitamin C needed each day. It is low in sodium and a good source of potassium.

The body absorbs iron more readily when a source of vitamin C is consumed along with a source of iron.

Light mousse tastes tropical like its fair-weather relative

When it comes to eating, people often are victims of opposing forces. The "ying" closely watches the calories and nutrients in food, while the "yang" gives top priority to flavor and quantity.

Neither appears to be a clear-cut winner. The key to healthful eating is variety, moderation and balance between food choices. For contemporary Americans, this approach translates into alternate light and indulgent eating.

It is fine to indulge in chocolate mousse occasionally, but not every night. There are two basic ways to lighten foods that would be considered indulgent — change the cooking method or change an ingredient.

To change an ingredient, it may be:

Eliminated: An optional recipe ingredient always can be left out. For instance, pasta can be cooked without salt.

Reduced: For instance, sugar in a dessert often can be reduced by as much as one-third without adversely affecting texture. A salad can be "dressed" instead of "drowned."

Substituted: The list of ingredients gives clues. Fruit packed in juice substitutes for fruit packed in syrup. Toasted wheat germ adds textural interest to a cookie or muffin similarly to finely chopped nuts. Yogurt and reduced-fat salad dressings work instead of mayonnaise.

Garnish either mousse with colorful fresh fruits which are naturally low in calories and a good source of vitamins.

Rich and creamy tropical mousse

- 1 cup unsweetened pineapple juice
- 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
- 1/2 cup orange juice
- 1/2 cup banana nectar
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup dairy sour cream
- 1 cup whipping cream
- 1 tsp. vanilla

Soften gelatin in 1/2 cup pineapple juice. Heat over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved.

Combine remaining pineapple juice, orange juice, banana nectar, sugar and sour cream in large bowl. Gradually stir in gelatin mixture. Refrigerate until slightly thickened, about 20 minutes.

Combine whipping cream and vanilla in chilled narrow deep bowl. Beat until soft peaks form. Fold into thickened fruit juice mixture. Refrigerate 3 to 4 hours.

To serve, spoon into decorative glasses or use ice cream scoop to form mousse into mounds. Garnish with starfruit, papaya, kiwifruit and fresh figs.

Makes 6 servings; 316 calories, 4 gm. protein, 19 gm. fat, 34 gm. carbohydrate each without garnish.

Light as air tropical mousse

- 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
- 1 cup unsweetened pineapple juice
- 1 cup (8 oz.) low-fat pineapple yogurt
- 1 cup (8 oz.) low-fat mandarin orange yogurt
- 1 cup (8 oz.) low-fat banana yogurt

- 1/2 tsp. vanilla
- 3 egg whites
- 1/2 cup sugar

Let yogurt come to room temperature.

Soften gelatin in pineapple juice in small saucepan. Heat over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved.

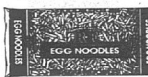

Combine three flavors yogurt in large mixing bowl. Stir until well blended. Stir in vanilla. Gradually mix in gelatin mixture. Refrigerate yogurt mixture until slightly thickened, about 20 minutes.

Beat egg whites in small mixer bowl until foamy. Gradually beat in sugar until stiff peaks form. Gently fold into chilled yogurt mixture. Refrigerate 3 to 4 hours.

To serve, spoon into decorative glasses or mound on plate with ice cream scoop. Garnish with starfruit, papaya, kiwifruit and fresh figs.

Makes 8 servings; 139 calories, 7 gm. protein, 1 gm. fat, 27 gm. carbohydrate per serving without garnish.

Warm summer fruit sweetens, colors pale winter appetites

Some of America's finest restaurants focus on fruit for dessert. Warm fruit sautes in colorful combinations are winning fans among diners looking for a light finale.

Made with ripe winter fruits warmed in butter, an elegant fruit saute can be a perfect ending to dinner. Prepare ingredients ahead. At dessert time, the cooking takes less than 5 minutes.

For a pleasing dessert trio, try crunchy grapes, juicy peaches or nectarines and red-ripe strawberries in a warm saute. The contrasting colors and textures make a vivid impression.

Fortunately, cold Midwestern temperatures do not preclude enjoying fruits. When it is winter here, it is summer in Chile and the fruits are at the peak of perfection. Grapes, peaches, nectarines, plums and pears can fill the kitchen with the fragrance of summer all winter long.

Families that are eating light can enjoy these succulent fruits for snacking. Slice a ripe peach for breakfast. Tuck some grapes into a lunch box. Make a fruit salad to end a family dinner. Low in calories, high in fiber and naturally sweet, fruits are surely nature's perfect dessert.

Warm winter fruit saute

- 1/4 cup butter, preferably unsalted
- 3 tbsp. orange liqueur or freshly squeezed orange juice
- 3 tbsp. water
- 1/4 tsp. sugar
- 1/2 cup seedless red or green grapes, halved
- 2 peaches or nectarines (about 1/2 lb. total), thinly sliced
- 1/2 cup sliced strawberries or raspberries, fresh or frozen
- Mint leaves, if desired
- Lemon Creme Fraiche or vanilla ice cream

Melt butter in large skillet over medium-high heat. Stir in liqueur, water and sugar. Bring mixture to simmer.

Add grapes and peaches. Reduce heat to medium. Cook, basting with sauce, until fruits are just warmed through, about 2 to 3 minutes, being careful not to overcook.

Add berries the last 30 seconds of cooking. If using frozen berries, add them partially frozen. Serve warm fruit in shallow bowls or on small plates. Decorate with mint. Spoon on Lemon Creme Fraiche or serve with small scoop of ice cream.

Note: If nectarines or peaches are sliced ahead, sprinkle with lemon juice to prevent browning. Lemon Creme Fraiche: In small bowl, stir together 1 cup whipping cream (not ultrapasteurized), 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice and finely grated peel of 1 lemon. Let mixture stand at room temperature until it thickens slightly, 4 to 8 hours. It will thicken more when chilled. Refrigerate until serving.

Why Bifocals?

I recommend Varilux eyeglass lenses for people who need to see from near to far without wearing bifocals.

Varilux has a sophisticated patented design that allows focusing clearly at any distance. It does away with the "window" seen in bifocals and the awkward bifocal line. We have the experience and equipment to fit this advanced lens, and we invite you to come and see the difference.

Women's Survival Show provides varied menu

Workshops, exhibits, demonstrations and main stage presentations will be available at the Working Women's Survival Show from Jan. 19 to 21 at the Cervantes Convention Center in downtown St. Louis.

The third annual show, which organizers last year said attracted more than 35,000 women, will focus on the main stage appearances of syndicated columnist Ann Landers at 6 p.m. Friday, Jan. 19, and actress Lynn Redgrave at 6 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 20.

KMOX Radio personality Anne Keefe will host a live broadcast of "At Your Service" on the main stage at 1 p.m. Friday (Jan. 19). The program's main focus will be "Going It Alone Financially." Keefe will repeat the performance for the in-house audience only at 4 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 20.

Tickets for each day will be on sale at the door. Admission is $2.50 for people 55 and older, $3.25 for children 6 and older, and $6.50 for all other adults. Children under 6 are admitted free, with free child care for children 2 to 12 provided by Children's World Learning Centers. Half-price coupons for Friday only will be available at all National Supermarkets.

Daily tickets cover admission to all show activities with in and out privileges for that day.

More than 500 exhibits will showcase products and services to help working women. Many products will be available for purchase. National Supermarkets will stage a "Festival of Foods," with delicious food and beverage samples from more than 150 companies.

Demonstration areas will include how to make up for the look of the 1990s, presented by Dillard's and Estee Lauder cosmetics. Design 2000 Artistic Theater will show new hair designs and cut and style hair for anyone attending the show.

A variety of workshops will be held each day in the convention center's meeting rooms. Topics of those sessions will include "Dealing with the Big Boys," "How to Beat the Job Burn Out Blues," "You Never Get a Second Chance to Make a First Impression," "Self Confidence," "Organization for the Working Woman," "Taking Control of Your Future," "Creative Visualization," "Alone After School," "Break-up Leads to Break-Down," "Discipline with Love," "How to Help Your Teen Say No" and "Stress ... Your Body Is Talking, Are You Listening?"

Sponsors are KMOX-TV (Channel 5), KMOX Radio, CBS Inc. in St. Louis, and the St. Louis Business Journal.
